Carver High School

Hello Readers!

Well, we received our report cards last week. This week there seems to be more studying. Could it be last six weeks' grades?

We are glad to have Leslie Brown, an old member of the Senior class, to return to us. We now have four wonderful boys in that class. He has been in Brooklyn for the last year.

The campaign speeches for Student Council officers were excellent. We have some young politicians among us. There was a little mud slinging. The officers winning by popular vote were:

President, Charles Jeffries

Vice-president, Warren Minnifield

Secretary, Jacqueline Lawing

Assistant secretary, Margaret Madison

Treasurer, Lillie Mae Lewis

Chaplain, Algie Williams.

With this good group of officers the Council should do much. Co-sponsors are Mr. James Clay and Mrs. Lillian Mullen.

An oratorical contest will be held in Lynchburg at Eighth Street Baptist Church on November 12, at 2:30 P. M. The contest is being sponsored by the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity with four schools participating: Carver High of Appomattox; Dunbar High of Lynchburg; Campbell County Training School, and Bedford High. Prizes will be $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third. Those entering the elimination contest here at school are: Edna Williams, Cyrus Jeffries, Lelia Moxee, and Gertrude Mickie. The winner from this group we wish luck in their competition with these other schools.

Mr. James H. Clay left Wednesday for the State Teachers meeting as the representative from our local Teachers' Association Mrs. Mozella J. Price also will be in attendance. Other teachers planning to be present are Mrs. Velma Elliott and Mrs. Harriett James.

Our Principal, Mr. Butler, left Tuesday for his examination, as he is in the Reserves.

The Hallowe'en Dance was enjoyed by all. Lee fortune teller, Gracie Daniel, could reveal your life story!

Most of the Juniors have received their invitations to join the Science Club. They seem very pleased to have the opportunity to join. Any member invited to join must have an S plus average. One must be scholastically capable as well as a good student in science.

The Juniors are starting early preparing for their Junior - Senior Prom. They are planning to have the best Prom that has ever been given at Carver. So Seniors, you'd better get ready to dance to the music of a "Band."

There were no Honor Roll students from the Senior Class, but Lelia Moxee made Honorable Mention.

The Senior Class Club met this week and made plans for the first issue of the "Carver Herald," which is to be published by December 15. They have planned to make this an interesting issue.

The Tenth Grade Girls are very busy in Home Economics with their unit on food preservation. Sarah Watkins, Rachel Pankey and Virginia Lewis made the first grape jelly; also Frances Megginson and Antionette Lawing. Majorie Reed and Jackie Lawing made crabapple jelly.

Johnny Paige, Donald Hart, Ted Reed, Eugene Harris and Otheaphus Johnson are stars on the Sophomore basketball team.

Shirley McCoy, formerly of the Daniel Webster Davis Elementary School of Staunton, is now a student in the seventh grade.

Edward McCoy insists that a law be passed permitting the poor seventh grade to recess, lunch periods, and privileges as other pupils here at Carver.

We close with this thought for the week:

"All's well that ends well;
still the fine's th ecrown;
Whate'er the course, the end is the renown."

A large crowd attended the annual meeting of the East and West Bound Sunday School Union, held with the First Baptist Sunday School last Sunday morning. The president opened the meeting with the Sunday School conducted by the officials of the union. All the schools were represented with the exception of Peaks Sunday School. The welcome address was given by Miss Sarah Watkins and the response by Sup't. Charlie Walker, of Zion. A panel discussion, "Improving our schools was conducted. The literary program was given in the afternoon. Miss Grace Daniels, of the Chestnut Grove School, acted as mistress of ceremony. A large contribution was left with the home school. A fine dinner was served by the ladies of the church and school. The pastor, Rev. Jordan, helped to make the union feel at home. Rev. Marshall, Professor and Mr. Warmack, of Spencer, Deacon T. C. Nowlin of Zion Hike and Mr. Pointdexter of Farmville were among the visitors welcomed by Mrs. Virginia Watson.

Date Set For Big Game Trophy Judging

November 18th is the date decided upon by the Game Commission officials for the state - wide judging to pick the top deer and bear trophies taken in Virginia during the 1949-50 hunting season.

Winners of the two regional contests to be held at Harrisonburg on November 3rd and 4th for the western section of the state, and at Newport News on November 11th for the eastern sportsmen, will meet at the Game Commission's Richmond offices for the final judging.

Two valuable trophies will be awarded to the successful sportsmen by the Commission.

Dove Season Success Varied in Virginia

With the closing of the 1950 dove season in Virginia on the last day of October, the Game Commission is now in the process of assembling reports in order to obtain a representative picture of this year's hunting season.

So far all reports indicate that central and southside Virginia enjoyed some of the best dove shooting in years. Other sections of the state, however, reported a very poor season with doves extremely scarce or none at all.

According to L. T. Quinn, Game Commission's Executive Director, this condition of excellent shooting in some areas of the state and poor or none at others, is not at all unusual with doves. Since the dove is a migratory bird, it appears and disappears in various sections spasmodically. The regions that have reported excellent dove shooting this year lie in the heavy corn and soy bean belt of the state, and, therefore, are areas that offer a natural attraction to the fast-flying birds.

Reports on other species indicate that the sora and clapper rail season which closed on October 30, provided some very fine shooting for Virginia's marsh hunters during the 1950 season.

Prospects for continued good gunning through the rest of the 1950 hunting season are good, according to the Commission observers. Large numbers of ducks and geese are already coming into the Virginia marshes along Back Bay and the Eastern Shore, and Old Dominion hunters are expected out in force when the season opens.

Upland game prospects are also good with reports showing more game in the woods and fields this year than for many years previous.

-will YOU be there?

- We say that "majority rules" in America. At best, this is only guesswork.
- The fact is that in election after election, millions upon millions of qualified voters fail to go to the polls.*
- These are the people who, in one of their greatest mistakes, think that their one vote "won't matter."
- But there are so many of them. And so long as their votes remain uncast, we can never be sure that the voice of the people is the voice of authority in America.
- Tuesday, November 7, is Election Day. WILL YOU BE THERE?
- One-third of our U. S. Senators and all of our Representatives, and many State and local officials will be chosen on that day. They are being chosen at one of the most critical times in our nation's history. Tuesday, as never before, every American blessed with the sacred right to cast a secret vote owes it to himself and to the millions of his fellow Americans to select the candidates he believes are best fitted for public office, and who will work earnestly and unceasingly to keep this nation free . . . then vote for those candidates, come what may.
- WILL YOU BE THERE?
- There are thousands of your fellow countrymen — fighting Americans — who cannot be at the polls Tuesday. Let's hope that the news will go out to them that on this vitally important day, America turned out in the fullest force ever to show them how deeply we cherish those rights of freedom for which they are fighting so heroically.
- BE THERE . . . NEXT TUESDAY.

*For example, look at these Presidential Election figures (U. S. Bureau of The Census) as far back as 1932.
